African Colonization.—No. 2.

Those who look upon the Colonizing of our black population as impracticable, argue that it is better to have them on the ground that one free labor is better than slave labor. No one will question that if it be undertaken what is meant by free labor. If it be meant, that the slaves are ill fit for laborers for the whites by being set free, then a statement is made that it needs proof. Where shall we look for an ample to prove it. The Free States know that they can get such laborers. And with us, we believe that white laborers are the best and most suitable laborers for white citizens and negroes in agriculture, industry, and professions, and negroes in agriculture, and professions. In this kind of labor is meant honest, he considered inviolate. It is not intended to discriminate against others. If, then, there shall be a Free State, provided their election, united, and persevering efforts to effect the object, what would be the result? Doubtless, as soon as their noble resolution was known, it would produce a deep and powerful impression in every portion of the State. It would put into prompt operation a train of influences which would bring the galling fetters of slavery and "let the oppressed go free." His conceivable bribe and now, escape from death is providential. Mr. Worcester is a son of the late Rev. Leonard Worcester, of Peacham, Vermont.

INDIAN ANNOUNCEMENTS.—The St. Joseph Mo.-Gazette of the 15th inst., last Dr. D. Mitchell passed through that place on Saturday the 12th, with $30,000 for the Indians at Connell Bluff.

RAILROAD.—The Tennessean, Commercial and Documentary Journal, with all its appendages, Bixlers, etc., was sold a few days since, under a decree from the United States district court to satisfy the claim of Prime, Ward, & Co., of New York, who are the holders of the bonds of the company to a large amount. The road was sold off by an agent of the New York company, we are informed, at forty-one thousand six hundred dollars. What disposition is to be made of the road we are not informed.—North Alabamian.

Wrote the cause of emancipation associated with these distinguished gentlemen, the most violent proslavery men would not attempt to identify it with Garrisonian abolition. They would begin to think soberly in reference to it—they would examine it—and examination would induce favorable action. It is impossible to calculate the happy consequences which would result from an energetic espousal of the cause of emancipation by our people. The most influential citizens—those who fed for the education of the negro mass, invoke the sympathies and operation of men of distinction. Let such men be respectively approached, and earnestly solicited to exert their well-earned influence in favor of the poor degraded African. May it not be believed that such appeals can be made to them as will be irresistible? appeals which will excite the liveliest sensibilities of their hearts, and secure their efficient services?

The presumption is that Mr. Clay entertains identical views with those of the distinguished men of 1797. His biographers say that the shadow of general emancipation "enlist[ed] his most ardent sympathies; and by all the means of his reach, through the public press and in assemblies of the people, his best powers were exerted for its success." He was impelled to this course by a deep conviction of the justice of the cause not less than by the profoundest sympathies of his nature." Let him then re-examine the sentiments which fifty years ago, he advanced, if all the fervor of impassioned eloquence, if the infirmities of age prevent his addressing the public again. Let him then let his voice be heard in the cause of the slaves, and let his influence be used to impress the blacks in our towns to live in vice, or to perform no more than life-life!

The slaves among the blacks in the free States are greater in proportion to their numbers than is found in the communities among the whites in the same number. This arises from the comparative in the quantity and character of the unemancipated slaves of their owners, and their want of regular, master employment, their deplorable habits, and similar causes, all the results of having no permanent home, or a place in society.

4. The slaves and master and me, I should prefer to adopt measures to get the blacks in our towns to live in vice, and to have no more than life-life!

5. Such measures have been given in the free States respecting the granting of rights of citizenship to the free blacks, that it is very probable that the slave states should pass similar laws for the slaves. Those slaves who come hereafter to Israel, should have for a law, as in the free States, that such persons cannot exercise their civil rights within their respective limits.

6. Such measures as we, in regard to the blacks in our towns, will also differ with the slaves in the free towns where they now live, inasmuch as the slaves there are greater than the blacks among the whites. Those temptations of the free community in society.

7. The slaves and master and me, I should prefer to adopt measures to get the blacks in our towns to live in vice, and to have no more than life-life!

A SOUTHERN KENTUCKIAN.

Release of the Encarcerated Prisoners.

The following from the N. O. Prairie, of the 28th ult., will be as gratifying intelligence to many of our citizens as we have published for a long time:

At length we have the pleasure of announcing the release of our brave countrymen who were taken prisoners at the battle of Bull Run, and who were held in confinement by the Mexicans. It will be remembered that Col. D. K. Ulrich, of the 1st Regt., 1st Mich., Capt. J. Vining, Wm. Koons, D. L. Evans, J. M. Burnett, J. W. Stilman, A. G. Marshall, W. Thomas, FIRST REGIMENT KENTUCKY INFANTRY.

LOUISVILLE LEGION.

CORPORAL S. M. BROWN, Captain J. F. Stewart, W. J. Thompson, Private G. A. Phillips, J. Fleckton, W. J. Taylor, Private J. C. Johnson, Private J. C. Johnson, Private J. W. Tracy, W. W. Wraggton, John Webb, C. H. Clegg, Private J. Vining, D. L. Evans, H. Newman, H. D. Bell, but declined it. Stanley D. Mitchell was elected principal clerk of the house.

THE NEW ALABAMA AND SALTILLO RAILROAD.—It is indeed cheering to be able, as we are, to record the fact that subscriptions to stock in the above work are rapidly going on. Yet, notwithstanding this remark that the cause is evergreen.

THIRTY thousand dollars more of stock is required to make a good business for next week.—N. J. Bulletin, Oct. 2d.

YOUNG FARM AT PENSACOLA.—We regret to learn, by a young gentleman just arrived from Pensacola, Florida, that the yellow fever is very prevalent at that place, while families bring down with the disease, and deaths occurring daily.—Balt. Sun., Thursday.

APPOINTMENT AS THE GOVERNOR.—By a letter from Franklin we learn that Samuel Collier, of Nelson county, has been appointed circuit judge in place of J. L. Helm, who declined accepting the appointment.

SIX.—The St. Louis papers report the steamship Cutter sank, of Turkey Island, in the Mississippi, to her cabin door. She was from that port bound to Memphis. No other particulars are given.

Daniel Williams, of Union Town, Ky., with his wife and family, left the Islands with Irish potatoes, cattle, &c., was found dead in his boat this morning, at our landing. An inquest was held over his body, and the jury report "death from appendicitis."

The rest of the released prisoners transfers to the iron ship Albion, which will probably reach the city today. The Melkin will probably furnish us with a list of the names of the released prisoners on board of her, and give the name of each of them for their welfare, it is gratifying to be able to publish the list below. About thirty-five of the released prisoners transfers to the iron ship Albion, at Tamon, in the employ of the U. S. Quartermaster, at that place.
